Newark College of Engineering (NJIT) Tests Out Algae Harvesting Machine on Deal Lake If you were out walking near the Asbury Park Boat Ramp on the morning of August 20, you would have seen an array of very unusual looking machines launching at the ramp. NJIT's Engineering Dept was experimenting with a new Algae Harvesting Boat. They are testing the new machine's ability to remove blue green algae from the lake. The DLC is hoping to get the reports back from the professors involved in this project, so that Dr. Souza can speak about the results at our next DLC Meeting. Go <http://deallake.org/> For video.
